ANNEXURE

FLEXIBLE BENEFITS PLAN (FBP)

The FBP is a component of your gross compensation. The FBP intends to provide you with flexibility to plan your expenditure and income tax. You will be eligible to claim the benefits under FBP under various heads subject to (a) Aggregate of all the heads not exceeding the maximum FBP amount mentioned and (b) the guidelines/ norms mentioned in the table below:

Sr.No.	Benefits	Value (per annum)	Details
A.	House Rent Allowance	Minimum of 5% and up to a maximum of 50% of Basic salary	Tax exemption will be extended as per Tax laws
B	Meal Card / Vouchers	Up to INR 20,400 with denominations of 0, INR 350, INR 700, INR 1100 and INR 1700 per month (excluding zero).	The meal cards can be used in the Company's cafeteria for purchase of meals / snacks across various Oracle locations in India. Any unused amount in the meal card can be carried forward to the subsequent months, subject to any applicable validity period.
C	Leave Travel Allowance	Up to 7.5% of the Basic	Will be reimbursed against actual bills subject to prevailing Indian Income Tax regulations. Any unclaimed amount will be paid as per company policy, subject to tax.
D	Employer contribution towards National Pension System (NPS)	Up to 10% of Basic (Can only opt in at joining; cannot change or opt in or opt out during course of employment)	Contribution towards NPS will commence once the Permanent Retirement Account Number (PRAN) as per the scheme is submitted to the company. Till the PRAN details are submitted, any amount chosen towards NPS will be paid as part of Special Allowance. If an employee opts for this benefit then every year employee would have the ability to vary the employer's contributions to NPS within the limit specified subject to a minimum contribution of INR 6,000 per annum. A new hire without an earlier active NPS account will have the ability to opt for this benefit within the scope of this FBP only in the month of April of the following year. . For more details regarding the NPS, please refer to the following link. http://pfrda.org.in/
E	Employer contribution towards Superannuation Fund	Up to 10% of Basic (Can only opt in at joining; cannot change or opt in or opt out during course of employment)	The option to contribute to Superannuation fund can be exercised only once the employee returns to India, post the completion of their assignment. If Superannuation is opted for, any statutory outflows, levies on account of Superannuation contributions would be to your account.
F	Special Allowance	Remaining FBP amount	FBP amount as per offer less the total amount distributed to benefits (A to E). This will be paid subject to Tax.

Note:

1. It is to be understood that the above FBP components can't be claimed as a matter of right. Employee's leverage of the FBP is dependent upon the FBP amount mentioned in this letter.

2. At the beginning of every financial year (in April) you will get a notification from the payroll vendor (Aon Hewitt) to declare the FBP components that you would like to opt for and the amounts that you would like to allocate based on the total FBP amount applicable to you. The notification would have the web link which you can access for making the allocations.

3. All benefits, perquisites and entitlements (including reimbursements) are subject to any relevant and applicable Income Tax provisions, including taxation on perquisite value.

4. These benefits, perquisites and entitlements shall cease upon the termination of your employment with the Company. They may also cease if you take unpaid leave. You should check with your local HR team for details.
